

Maintaining a Reputation in Continuous-Time Games

Eduardo Faingold

Abstract. The paper establishes payoff bounds from reputation effects (akin to those of Fudenberg and Levine (1989,1992)) for continuous-time repeated games in which a long-run player faces a population of short-run players and noisy signals about the long-run player's actions are driven by a Levy process.